Furthermore, LGE is the reference standard for assessing myocardial viability and is used to guide coronary revascularization. Certainly, secondary/functional mitral regurgitation is associated with adverse HF outcomes and thus, may be a potential therapeutic target.⁶² Right ventricular (RV) assessments to further characterize remodelling and prognosis include functional parameters like tricuspid annular plane systolic excursion and fractional area change as well as Doppler methods. A substudy of the Studies of Left Ventricular Dysfunction (SOLVD). Recently, PET imaging using a CXCR4-ligand, ⁶⁸Ga-pentixafor, identified post-infarct inflammation as a marker of adverse outcome.⁹⁴⁻⁹⁶ This information was subsequently used to administer the CXCR4-blocker plerixafor to improve function only when PET indicated high expression of the CXCR4 target in myocardial tissue.⁹⁴ This concept may be translated to other innovative pairs of imaging tests and drug interventions targeting distinct molecular or cellular mechanisms of cardiac repair and remodelling.⁹⁷ Open in new tabDownload slideNovel molecular imaging techniques. Risk and predictors of readmission for heart failure following a myocardial infarction between 2004 and 2013: a Swedish nationwide observational study. ::118 . . . However, despite recommendations to administer betablockers early to patients with acute MI, there is considerable controversy regarding if and how betablockers enhance LV healing and promote reverse remodelling post-MI. Necrosis, the immediate predominant phenotype during MI, is an uncontrolled form of cell death with cell rupture.
